Read This List Carefully, and, When You Find What You Want, Make up Your Mind to Have It.

For several months past we have been negotiating with various parties with a view of purchasing from them choice and acceptable articles, suitable for gifts to our subscribers at the time of the enlargement and change of name of this paper; and we now have the pleasure of announcing that we have perfected ar. rangements whereby we are enabled to offer

The Most Attractive Inducements to Subscribers Ever-Given By Any Paper In the United States!

THE COUNTY PAPER IS now the Largest, the Handsomest and the Best paper published in the State outside of the large cities; it is all that a county paper should be; we can say without vanity that it is a credit to Holt county; and every citizen of the county, without regard to politics or religion, should feel a personal interest in increasing its circulation,-thereby enabling its publishers to maintainit at its present high standard and to add such other improvements as may from time to time suggest themselves. Every copy of this paper which goes abroad will instantly attract the attention of all who see it; and its beauty, its size, and the excellence of its reading matter will advertise the fact that in this portion of the West there are intelligent people, who have splendid s-hoels and churches and cosy homes, surrounded by orehards laden with choicest truits, and fields of fine wheat and corn, and pastures in which roum tat cattle and hogs. - with soils of unsurpassed tertility and a climate famed for its health twiness,-in whose midst thousands more of good people, who are now wearing away their lives on the bleak hillsides of the East, can find a welcome and obtain homes of their own for a more nominal sum. To attract to us good citizens from other States will be one of the main aims of THE COUNTY PAPER, and in this work it hopes to be largely aided by its subscribers. Our citizens are composed of people from almost every State in the Union, and every subscriber to THE COUNTY PAPER should send it each week, after read by Barnard and others. Large type; authors. The plea of poverty will not avail as an excuse for not doing so, as the inducaments offered below are so liberal that, in many cases, the subscriber not only gets Tun County Paper for nothing, but is actually paid to take it. How we can attord to make these gifts does not concern the general public. "Never look a gift horse in the mosth" is a saying as old as it is wise. Let it suffice that we get everything honesily and that we are willing to share our good fortune with our subscribers.

Below will be found a list of the Gifts we offer to every subscriber who pays Two Dollars in advance for a year's subscription to THE! COUNTY PAPER. NO. 9. "The Perfect Shakespeare"

To any subscriber, new or old, who will pay us $3.50, cash in advance, we will send THE COUNTY PAPER one year and also present him wit a copy of The Perfect Shakespeare. This edition of Shakespeare's works is by far the best and most complete ever issued. It is carefully prepared from the earliest as d more modern editions, selected where commentators have differed as to the sense of obscure or doubtful passages, from those readings which the ables critics believe to be the most Shakespeareast and best suited to a popular edition. Illustrated with 30 Large Engravings, designed by JOHN CONEN, the celebrated artist and engraver, and a steel portrait of shakespeare.

We have used the term "Perfect" as applicable to this adition, and any one that will examine it will see that it well merits the title; and, indeed, is the only edition that fully deserves the title of "Pertect." There are numerous editions of this wonderful writer's works, got up in all tyles, and at every price. But, unfortunately, they are all more or less faul-From some editions many of the strongest passages are omitted in deternce to squeau ish namby pambyism. In other editious many scenes are transposed, till the plays are made, like Joseph's coat, a thing "of shreds and But in this Edition, the "Perfect" Shakespeare, all the Posmsall the Plays—all the Characters—all the Language—are given unabridged, clear and perfect as they originally sprang from the august brow of this Tove of Poets-the sublime Sheakspeare. It is not necessary at this late day to say aught in praise of Shakespeare's works; for they are universally admitted to be the grandest efforts of any human mind. Works that have been enlogized by Ben, Johnson, by Dryden, by Addison, by Milton (Prince of Poets,) who has beautifully written of him as "Sweetest Shakespeare-Nature's child-

The "Pertect" Shakespeare, in addition to the whole of Shak speare's Camedias, Histories, Tragedies and Paems—all that he ever wroty—contais the full text of Shakespeare's Will as recorded in the office of the free gative Court of Canterbury, and also a complete explanatory glossary of all the unusal words or phrases occurring in his works, making one Handsome Quarro Volume, bound in the best English cloth, with artistic designs in black and gold on back and side. The size of the book is 11 1-2 inches high, 9 inches wide, 1 12 inches thick, and weigh 3 pounds. Aspecimen copy can be seen at the office of the editor The County Paper.

When this edition was first issued it was sold at seven Dollars a capy; but we have made arrangements where by we can give it away to our subscribers in the manner above mentioned. Ber Any one who wants to procure the Perfect Shakespeare without the payment of any cash, can do so by bringing us the names of seven new susscribers, at two Dollars each, cash in advance These new subscribers will be given premiuns the same as other new subscribers.

NO. 10. Beautiful Jewelry Casket.

To any subscriber, new or old, who will pay us Four Dollars cash in dvance, we will send The COUNTY PAPER one year, and also present him with a Casket containing Twenty Pieces of Beautiful Jewelry. This jewelry is not composed of solid pure gold, but all the parts representing gold are heavily gold placed and look as well and are almost as good as it they were solid gold.

The various articles intended for ladies' wear are really handsome and are as "Shad we not have the pleasure of inverting your name in that list?"

Now, who will help us? We propose to publish, from time to time, a Roll of Honor, containing the names of those who specially interest themselves for us. Shad we not have the pleasure of inverting your name in that list?

good as are worn by many ladies who hold high heads in the fashionable world The articles for gentlemen's wear are also nobby and jaunty and stylish. No one, after examining this jewelry, would believe it possible for us to furnish such an amount of really handsome jewelry for the mere trifle at which we offer it in . onnection with THE COUNTY PAPER; yet we do it, and do it honestly. Some idea of how we struck this bonanza may be gathered from the following statement: About two years ago a firm of jewelry manufacturers in Providence, Rhode Island, received an order from a prominent New York firm of manufacture 200,000 of these Caskets, each containing twenty pieces of jewelry. After disposing of about 100,000 of the Caskets, which sold as rapidly as they could be thrown on the market, the New York firm was overtaken with financial difficulties and were unable to take the remainder. This made it necessary to dispose of them at any sacrifice, and we have secured a few of them for the subscribers to THE COUNTY PAPER.

NO. 11. The Peoples' Encyclopedia-

To any subscriber, new or old, who will pay us $8.50, each in advance, will send THE COUNTY PAPER one year and present a set set of Chamber. Encyclopedia, in Fiftees Volumes of about 800 pages each, fine type, closely but clearly printed, and handsomely and substantially bound in cloth. This is the publication (with the exception of the American Additions) which has been so extensively advertised for the past year under the title of Library of Uni versal Knowledge. It is a tuli and complete reprint of the Edinburg, Scotland, 1883 edition of Chambers's Encyclopaedia. When, about ten months ago, the American Book Exchange aurounced their intention of publishing this immense work in fifteen volumes and seiling them at Fifty Cents a Volume, people were incredulous and it took several mouths to convince the public that there was no humbug or swindle about it. The new price was so tremendously lower (being less than one-third of the old price) than the price at which it had formerly been sold, that people could not believe it possible that they could be manufactured for the price named. When the first volume made its appearance people examined it closely, found it to be well and clearly printed, on thin but strong paper, and strongly and substantially bound in durable cloth. Still they shook their heads and doubted and predicted that the publishers would go into bankruptcy before they finished the fitteen volumes. But steadily every two or three weeks a new volume made its appearance, and, as time wore on, people began to gain confidence, the sales increased rapidly toward the last, until now the fifteen volumes are fluished and are on our table before us as we write. Notwithstanding the rapidity with which they were rushed through the press there was no slighting of the work, and every volume is a model of mechanical execution. Upwards of one hundred thousand copies have now been sold, and the publishers say that this is but the beginning, as they intend to sell a million copies. Nor is this improbable. These books constitute a library in themselves. Whether a man has other books or not, he should have these, for they contain information upon almost every subject within the range of human knewledge; and, as the subjects are alphabetically arranged, any of them can be turned to in a moment. Formerly the possession of an Encyclopaedia like that of Chambers's or Appleton's was reserved for only the wealthy; but since the daring innovation of the Laterary Revolution in publishing Chambers's Encyclopsedia in fifteen volumes at Fifty Cents a volume (with ten cents a volume added to postage to those who cannot call for them at the publication office) almost any man can become the owner of these coveted books. THE COUNTY PAPER most carnestly wishes that every family in Holt county may have a set of these volumes; and it is proud and happy that it has an opportunity to offer them to its subscribers at a price considerably lower than is charged by the publishers. To demonstrate: The very lowest price in cash at which these books can be bought of the publishers in New York is Fifty Cents per volume-making seven and a half dollars for the fifteen volumes. To this price persons outside of New York city must add the cost of sending them by mail, which is ten cents a volume. This automnts to one and a half dollars,—making the total cost of the Encyclopas lia, to persons in Holt county, Nine Dollars. And this is the very lowest price at which they can be bought. But by availing ourselves of a very liberal offer made us by the publishers, whereby we are permitted to pay a considerable portion in advertising, we are able to offer the Encyclopaedia and a year's subscription to THE COUNTY PAYER for Fifty Cents less than any one else would have to pay for the Encyclopaedia done! In other words, we furnish the Encyclopaedia and THE COUNTY PAPER one year, for only Eight-and a-half Dollars, which is Fifty Cents less than the lowest each price of the Encyclopaedia, postage added. It is not necessary to allude further to this branch of the subject; every reader will instantly see the point, and we hope that hundreds of them will avail themselves of this opportunity to procure books so essential to every intelligent hossehold.-We must add one other thought-though we have already said so much. The editor of THE COUNTY PAPER owns both Appletons's Cyclopaedia and bers's Excyclopaedia. The former is in sixteen volumes and cost hitz ninetysix dollars. The latter is in fifteen volumes and cost him nine dellars. Yet if less, are vastly more comfortable to handle. To Any one who would like to get the above described Chambers's Encyclopsedia without the payment of any eash whatever, can do so by bringing us the names of thirty new subscribers, at Two Dollars each, cash. Each of these new subscribers will be entitled to a gift the same as other new subscribers.

An Elegant Top Buggy.

For Eighty-Five Pollars, eash in advance, we will send THE COUNTY PAPER one year and also present the subscriber with his choice of three different styles of Top Buggies -a picture of one of which is shown elsewhere—the subscriber to pay freight from Cincinnati, Ohio. Pictures of the other two styles can be seen at the office of The County Paper. These Buggies are manufactured by T. T. Haydock, the celebrated Cincinnati manufacturer, and the lowest cash price at the manufactory is $110 for each. It will thus be seen that we turnish them for #25 less than they can possibly be bought for, and throw in a year's subscription to The County Paper besides. Any one who wants a good buggy will hever have a better opportunity than this to secure it for so little money. All these Buggies have Leather Quarters; Rubber Roof and Curtains; Trimised in Leather or Blue Cloth, as desired; Sarven Patent Wheels, Pest Springs and Axles. In short, they are made for service as well as display, and will last well and give satisfaction. The manufacturer gives a written Warrant with each Buggy that if a wheel, spring or axle breaks within one year from date of purshase, on account of bad material, it can be returned to him and he will send a new one.

Take Particular Notice.
All the books offered as Cifts by The County Paren will be ordered by us rom the publishers from time to time as we may have call for them. We shall probably order about every two weeks. This plan is rend-red necessary in order prevent us from accumulating books which our subscribers do not want. We have no means of judging in advance what books they will select. Those subscribers who select books as gifts will inform us or our agents what books they want, at the time they pay their subscriptions, and if we do not have them on hand we will send for them in our next order and forward them to the subscribers as soon as we receive them.

Concluding Appeal.

Now, Good People of Holt and neighboring counties, THE COUNTY PARER is before you. You see what it is and it speaks for itself. We promised that it should be the Largest, the Handsomest, and the Best County Paper in the State. With becoming modesty, we claim that we have fulfilled our promise. No citizen of Holt county will be ashamed to send THE COU TY PAPER abroad as as index of the intelligence of our people. We confess that we are proud of this paper, and we believe our pride will be shared by all our subscribers.

But not only do we furnish our readers the best county paper in the State: we also offer the most liberal Gifts to subscribers ever presented by any paper in the United States, so far as our knowledge extends. Our object in this is to largely swel our subscription list. We want more subscribers - a GREAT MANY more and we want our prescut subscribers to aid us in getting them. We ought to have a thous and more subscribers in Holt county, and we can secure them if our present subscribers will only aid us by showing the paper to their neighbors and telling them of the pleasure they derive every week from reading it. We hareby appoint every one of our subscribes our agent, and we urge each one to interest himself or herself in our behalf. Just think of this: if each of our subscribers will send us just one name we will have nearly three thousand subscribers; and then we can-and will-make THE COUNTY PAPER still better than it now is,vastly more so. Though we know our subscribers feel kindly toward us, we stimulate their good will by offering them inducements, in the shape of valuable gifts, for all they do fer us. These Gifts are so various that, among them all, no one can fail to find just what he or she may want. We offer Gifts for securing all the way from one subscriber up to fifty, and ranging in value from 25 cents up to $110. Good Friends, in hel ivg us you also help yourselves. The more subscribers you get for us, the better we will make the paper for you. And there is not a subscriber on our list who cannot send us at least one new name. And "every little helps" If enough subscribers will send us new names to make an average of one name from each, we will be satisfied Read over carefully the foregoing list of Gif's; and if you find the name of something you want which an be had by see ring a few subscribers for us, make up your minds to have it and go to work and get it. It will take very little trouble. No our can look through THE COUNTY PAPER without being pleased with it; and when the further inducement is held out that every subscriber is allowed his choice of a number of valuable gifts, there is not one intelligent man out of twenty who will refuse to subscribe. Try it! Young ladies and gent'emen can, by very little effort, secure a large number of those charming books, the names of which are sure to make
